Austin University is a Silicon Valley based non-profit higher education institution, approved by the United States Department of Education, and internationally accredited by the UK based Accreditation Service for International Colleges, Colleges & Universities (ASIC) which is recognized by the UK Government, a member of the CHEA International Quality Group (CIQG) in USA and a member of the BQF (British Quality Foundation). Austin University offers personalized, customized and localized American high-quality education in order to meet individual, business and industry needs in the United States and throughout the world. Austin University is founded on the belief that a quality education is a basic right for humanity, and a key ingredient to the development of this interconnected global economy. At Austin University, we offer the building blocks to success through high-quality, relevant programs on campus as well as via a flexible online and hybrid format—- all at affordable tuition.

The strength of Austin University lies in the diversity of our students and faculty. At AU we recognize the strength in diversity and strive to bring students, governments, and nations together. Our students are the future leaders of this world and at AU we prepare them to meet the challenges of the 21st century. An education at Austin University represents an education founded on knowledge, diversity, and harmony, all equally vital components to prepare students to take leadership roles in their businesses as well as communities. Among a long list of Austin University leadership, faculty and Advisory Board are well established and proven business leaders at Fortune 500, and world-class educators with decades of teaching experience at world top-ranked American and European universities.
